ABOUT ONE-DAY CONVENTIONS.

Whenever you see on this page that your invitation for a One-Day Convention has been accepted, and a date for it assigned, please proceed at once to make all necessary arrangements,—for hall, etc. As soon as you have these completed write to us, giving all particulars, so the full notice may be published, in ample time.

Hymn-slips will be sent you, also a fair supply of tracts. These should be at hand for general use.

Remember that the afternoon sessions are specially for the public, and advertise these only. Your success in getting the public to attend will depend largely (1) on the amount and the wisdom of your advertising; and (2) on the location and character of the hall or place of assembly. It is difficult, almost impossible, to get intelligent people to attend any meetings of which they know little, if they are not held in a reputable place.
